"The Best Mix Of Hard-Hitting REAL News & Cutting-Edge Alternative News On The Web"

- Republican poll observers being kicked out and then an overwhelmingly high proportion of votes suddenly materializing for the Democrat candidate. No possibility
- Mail-in voting procedures being widely implemented because of "COVID concerns," but there were no verifiable chain-of-custody procedures in place and no mechanism possibility of fraud there.
- Voting machines proven to be connected to the internet, despite vehement protests to the contrary. No possibility of fraud there.

How can any reasonably intelligent person not question these things? You may still believe that the 2020 election results were valid, but simply raising logical questions

Those humorous "man in the street" interviews are fun, and granted, only the most outlandish ones make the cut onto the TV segment. Still, answers like "1924" when asked, "Hmmm...Spain?" when asked, "Whom did we win our independence from?" are emblematic of the widespread, deep-rooted "couldn't care less" attitude about knowledge many adults today, especially Gen X, Millennials, and Gen Z.

This wasn't always true. In WWII, whether from Massachusetts or Kansas, Catholic, Protestant or Jewish, Red Sox fan or Cardinals fan, American G.I.s were fierce

In the 1950s, the vast majority of ordinary Americans knew all about the "arms race" with the Soviets and knew exactly where the public fallout shelters were in case

The Cuban Missile Crisis in October 1962 was followed by everyone, eyes and ears glued to the television for hours on end. We as a country pulled for JFK to find Republicans' fault. The country stood as one, calm, concerned, and informed.

In 1969, the Apollo 11 lunar landing was hailed as a unified American triumph, without any thought of conservatives vs. liberals.

In 1989, when the Berlin Wall fell, the majority of American adults completely understood the significance, having lived with the Wall as a defining element of foreign

But in recent decades, especially after 9/11/2001, the Democrats have made a conscious, concerted effort to divide the country along political and demographic lines, taking power over the electorate. In addition to convincing various groups that they are suddenly victims as a result of Republican policies, Democrats have willingly attempted to keep their potential voting base remains uninformed. Hence the phenomenal, almost criminal, misinformation and outright lies fed to the public about these COVID treatments could've stopped the pandemic in its tracks had they been widely disseminated early on.

Instead, we got highly regarded doctors being banned from Facebook, hospitals succumbing to liberal government pressure and refusing to prescribe these treatments derisively to ivermectin as a "horse de-wormer" — all in service to one overriding fact:

- Great portions of the American public will not seek out the truth if it's the slightest bit inconvenient. These same people are only too willing to accept liberally; frighteningly high percentage of potential Democrat voters are far more interested in their own personal comfort and convenience and far less interested in doing anything about these issues.

The Democrats know this. They know that if they tell their voting base to keep their mask on while in line at Starbucks, they will. They have no interest in weaving open Grande Iced Caramel Macchiato, and don't bother me with anything else.

There's a funny Facebook meme that's been making the rounds. It goes something like, "Not saying the current generation is dumb, but your grandfather's car owner would adjust the valves. Today's cars owner's manuals tell you not to drink the battery fluid."

The high proportion of self-absorbed, convenience-obsessed, unintellectually curious adults in America is the biggest story of the 21st century. This is what is driving

ANP EMERGENCY Fundraiser: 'Dangerous, Derogatory, Harmful, Unreliable!' Those are some of the exact words used by Google's censors describing many of our controversial stories. Stories later proven to be truthful and light years ahead of the mainstream media 'inconvenient truths' they're still trying to hide, they pulled their ads from ANP.
